NEW GOVERNOR SAYS FLAG OF U. S. WILL WAVE OVER ISLAND

By The Associated Press.

SAN JUAN, P. R., July 28.—Gov. F. M. Dill, the newly appointed chief executive of Porto Rico, was inaugurated today with appropriate ceremonies and in the course of his inaugural address declared strenuously against any agitation for independence of the Islands which lie southwardly from foreign soil.

"So long as Old Glory waves over the United States, it will wave over Porto Rico," declared the governor. He continued:

"I want you to be fully aware that there is no room in Porto Rico for any foreigner who is not willing to support and uphold our established government. There is no sympathy or friendly hope in the United States for independence for Porto Rico. Neither is there any desire in these Islands for self-government. For so long as the flag of our beloved and common country, the stars and stripes, and those never shall be. So long as Old Glory waves over the United States, it will wave over Porto Rico."

"If a majority of the people of these Islands desire a change in their government, I would suggest that they vote statewide. Then to place confidence in the same condition and situation that obtain today in New York, Missouri, and California, and trust the American people for a sensible, equal, and just solution.

"The last two years at national conventions held in the United States, Democratic and Republican, declared unanimously against independence for Porto Rico. Neither is there any desire in these Islands for self-government. For so long as the flag of our beloved and common country, the stars and stripes, and those never shall be. So long as Old Glory waves over the United States, it will wave over Porto Rico."

In accepting this call to the governorship, at the hands of our great chief executive, I have done so with an open hand, an open mind, and an open heart, for all of the peoples of these Islands are least governed, most easily governed, and are the most discontented and angry. I have not come here to be the governor of any class or party, nor went, or any organization, but to be governor of all the people of Porto Rico.

I know there has been strong opposition in Porto Rico as to how government affairs should be conducted, and while I do not question the absolute patriotism and sincerity of any party or party leader, I believe that we could all have a better understanding of justice if we were to meet each other halfway. In other words, let us give each other a chance to make known our views of party division and not make party division and party strife the basis of our action. Let us forget our differences of the past, without rancor, and work for the one great common cause, namely, the well-being and upbuilding of Porto Rico."

Today you are as much a part of the United States as any sovereign state of our beloved American union.

While serving as your governor, and trying to be equally fair to all, I hope you will understand that I shall steadfastly uphold and stand for our national government here. In the patriotic language of President Harding, stand for America first."

Governor Dill, touching on the subject of recent contentions between capital and labor on the island expressed his sympathy for those who labored and declared he would be happy to have amicable industrial differences.

Capital and labor are hand-maids in the world of affairs and progress, and neither can succeed without the other.

He declared he would like to aid in inducing the growing of coffee more profitably for small planters. He also expressed himself in favor of universal suffrage and said he hoped to see the language of Washington, Andrews, and Harding become the paramount speech of the Porto Rican schools.

Governor Dill also said he would strictly enforce the "dry" law of Porto Rico, which was overwhelmingly voted by the voters in 1917.

WOMAN'S PART IN MAN'S SUCCESS—Often the strongest impulse to save comes from the woman of the household.

Every man should consider himself fortunate who has a wife or mother who helps him to save money.

The important part about saving is not the amount of money you set aside each week. The essential thing is the firm decision to save a definite, regular sum, no matter how small it may be.

Even $1 saved regularly each week will make your savings grow amazingly.
